

Rachel Proctor, Where I Belong

i've wished a million wishes on a big empty sky and i've spent too many endless nights alone wondering if i was broken and why everything felt so wrong and where do i belong

i see beyond the end of time when i look into your eyes its so much bigger than this life and everythings right i feel so safe safe as a child in your arms this is where i belong

i see my share of troubles ohhh ohhh
tears i've shed in vain watched my dreams crumble but all along the way someone heard me pray the house is quiet now and my my heart is full and all the ones i love lay fast asleep and i am complete i turn out the lights and i whisper goodnight and i know this is where i belong
