

Rachel Ries, And For This

You've been so good to me and the others
You've been so good to me and then
Your kindness rolls over and through this failing blue
And for this we will always remember

I'm sorry you heard about the ending
I'm sorry you saw it's just a false door
It's really the end and then we never begin again
It's a sorry ending

And he says his religion is other people
But I get so lonely and let down
I wish I could keep you in my coat pocket and hold you
And roll you around in my hands through winter

Cause look at me standing at the curb
Wishing I could bring you back home
Look at me standing at the curb
Shifting from one foot to the other
Hoping to let you back in in time for Easter

Cause you've been so good to me and the others
You've been so good to me and then
Your kindness rolls over and through this tremendous blue
And for this we will always remember
Your kindness rolls over and through this brilliant blue
And for this we will always be grateful
