Rachel Ries, And For This

You've been so good to me and the others You've been so good to me and then Your kindness rolls over and through this failing blue And for this we will always remember

I'm sorry you heard about the ending I'm sorry you saw it's just a false door It's really the end and then we never begin again It's a sorry ending

And he says his religion is other people
But I get so lonely and let down
I wish I could keep you in my coat pocket and hold you
And roll you around in my hands through winter

Cause look at me standing at the curb Wishing I could bring you back home Look at me standing at the curb Shifting from one foot to the other Hoping to let you back in in time for Easter

Cause you've been so good to me and the others You've been so good to me and then Your kindness rolls over and through this tremendous blue And for this we will always remember Your kindness rolls over and through this brilliant blue And for this we will always be grateful
