

Rad Kick, Hungry

standing beside your grave bearing a tear in my eyes as I take a short but intensive look to the sky I remember all bad and good times it seems like yesterday living and crying is like loving and dying I felt you in my insides you were part of me you have passed my heart this time you weren't able to see I will always keep your face keep your countenance in my heart

the tear fades to dust everything I loved is lost did you feel my fear or haven't seen a tear did you ever trust in what I used to love or what I have thought now you know the price for your fatal lies hunger wasn't fought that's why I ate you