Radiohead, Lull

You stop the crowd I cried out to break the spell You wake and smile I just snapped and lost control

Distracted by irrelevance The stress and the tension The stress and the tension I'm in a lull

There's nothing so dull As talking, talking 'bout yourself But what I meant to say I'm sorry that I lost control

Distracted by irrelevance The stress and the tension Crawling through the keyhole I'm in a lull