

Rag Bag, Black Dogfucker

Three hundred and sixty five

Seventeen hours a day.

Ring the bell and come in. Everything's changing every day and it's always quite warm in here.

Ring the bell and come in. Climb the steps and come see me.

The world on you depends our life will never end gotta wave your hand.

Sacrifice your body to make the play.