

Rain, But You Can't

You are the reason the stars shine at night
You are what love is for
I love you in every way a man has ever loved a woman
I love you even more
I love you even more
Your presence inhales me like a warm breath
Your presence in my mind
Sweet visions of your beauty are my only companions
Sweet visions of the blind
Sweet visions of the blind
It is for one goal that I constantly strive
It is for the love of you
That I force myself to continue existing
That I do the things I do
That I do the things I do
If only you could experience for an instant
If only you could know
The intensity of this love I have for you
The intensity would grow
The intensity would grow