

Rainbirds, Give Me A Kiss

all there is
the next thing that happens she smiles to herself `bout her loves and detachments one this way
at that end
one that way
tomorrow
ill need so much more
time to spend in a hurry
i need many more things to touch to devour
i want to be selfish like you in the morning
i want to be free from the weeping
the sorrow
believe it or not
i feel like a god
not one single moment to waste
not a second
and then she fell silent
to hear herself breathing ear
drums
in temples
alone
i was sleeping
she kissed me to wake me to ask me to hold her
i wonder
where had she been hiding while a whole generation went joyfully riding
into the light they themselves were emitting on the machine for eternal bliss i was here with you - now give me a kiss
believe it or not
i feel like a god
not one single moment to waste
not a second
i am here with you - now
i am here with you - now
i am here with you - now
give me a kiss