

Rainbirds, Oblivionseekers / Here To Go

we are only visitors
we are here to go
tracing out new paths
along the old maps
into a new direction
go for walks in the rain and come back pleased
with the beauty
and boldness
of the arts
we dare to live for
we are comic fighters
beyond time/space
bringing a new order
into an old tale
it is that old dream
out of a deep night
wake up and
gloriously
returning to sanity
is very popular these days and perhaps
if need be
not difficult to do
and perhaps
if need be
not difficult to do
feel my lips
feel the softness
of my skin
hear my heart beat
fast and furious
taste me
taste my breasts
my thighs
my sex
as we lie there naked
in the moonlight
in the sun
we understand
that we are here
here to go
for walks in the rain
and come back pleased
and knowing that all this is nothing all this is nothing
without the beauty
without our boldness
as we dare
live for the beauty
and the arts