

Rainbow, Run With The Wolf

In the light of the day, you can hear the old ones say,
Was the sound last night the wind, can you feel the change begin
By the fall of the snow, a single soul will go,
Footsteps on the white, theres an unholy light

Theres a hole in the sky,
Something evils passing by
Whats to come, when the siren calls you go,
To run with the wolf

When the world makes a turn, the eyes of one will learn,
That a sound just like the wind, only makes the change begin
By the end of the rain, the feelings passed again
From the things that snap and bite, an unholy light

Theres a hole in the sky,
Something evils passing by
Whats to come, when the siren calls you go,
To run with the wolf

Theres a break in the crowd,
Like the swollen waters
Angry as they pull you down
When the siren calls you go yeah,
To run with the wolf
Run with the wolf

Theres a hole in the sky,
Something evil is passing by
Whats to come, when the siren calls you go yeah,
To run with the wolf
Run with the wolf

Like a beast, in a field
He knows his fate is sealed,
He runs with the wolf
Oh

Run with the wolf

He sees his mate, he knows its late
There he goes
To run, run, run, run,run, run, run, run with the wolf

Run with the wolf
Run with the wolf
Run with the wolf

Run run run there we go
Run run run run
Run with the wolf