Rainer Maria, Paper Sack

So there's your coat and here's your hat I couldn't fight my way out of a wet paper sack no need to leave a note once you've packed if you can stay gone, I don't want you back. So I sit here as you stand there press me flat beneath the weight of that even-keeled stare no need to leave a note if you go, if it'd take the rosetta stone to decode. I put two fingers to your throat when we kiss and I take your pulse no need to explain if you're leaving but if you stay you gotta shake me if I stop breathing. Da dee da dee la la la la I watch your eyes for signs of life will your pupils dilate if I shine a light? no need to apologize if you're dead we should've gone out tonight, should've given it a rest. I put two fingers to your throat when we kiss I take your pulse no need to explain if you're leaving but if you stay you gotta shake me if I stop breathing. One deep breath could clear the dust that covers you, but if you leave I may never find another love. So here's the tail with no end it circles back to the mouth where it begins again and f I sat and sang all night it wouldn't change a thing, couldn't make anything all right. I put two fingers to your throat when we kiss and I take your pulse if you can find that axe you can grind it now in case you've forgotten, I can show you how One deep breath could clear the thoughts that trouble you But if you leave, I may never find another love. Da dee da dee la la la la Da dee da dee la la la la.
