

Rainer Maria, Planetary

the skyline is two gazes long.
and i crane my neck
to take it all in,

the skyline is two gazes long.
and i bump my head
against the windshield,

(trying to find the sun.
it runs ahead of us.
i don't know what direction that is.)

i can see you craning your neck

but momentum makes my head ponderous and heavy.
planetary rotation

is time winding down?

the light from our bodies precedes us.

I want to go to far away places.
