Rancid, Who Would've Thought

Who would've thought that dreams come true
Who would've thought i'd end up with you
Who would've thought what they said was true
But it was and you are light and darkness coming through
Sihlouettes of palm trees backing up against the sky
Echo park sunset, an ambulance drives by Someone went down, and I wonder who Faces fall through was it anybody i knew
So i drank like a fish till i crawl like a rat
In the city of shit i ended up on my back.
But i can't believe you're with me after dark
So let it come together in echo park
Who would've thought that dreams come true
Who would've thought i'd end up with you
Who would've thought what they said was true
But it was and you are light and darkness coming through
A red flag and your body wins
Or a snake bite, gotta start again
So i'm fucked up and watching TV all day
I don't wanna see what ricky lake's gotta say
And it hits me when i'm alone, i'm an angry man
I start singing to myself i go dealt a shitty hand
With all these feelings my heart could explode
So is it not fear, no not at all
So i said
Who would've thought that dreams come true
Who would've thought i'd end up with you
Who would've thought what they said was true
But it was and you are light and darkness coming through Na na na na na na an
Who would've thought that dreams come true
Who would've thought i'd end up with you
Who would've thought what they said was true
But it was and you are light and darkness coming through