

Randle Chowning Band, Black Leather

(GUITAR SOLO INTRO)

she goes walkin'

on the devils lawn

evil stalkin'

an' carryin' on an' on

she leaves her slip rolled up inside the glove box of her car and tomorrow

she's starving for redeem

drippin' sorrow

she cries before the king

wanting to speak so bad

but her mouth will only scream

(GUITAR SOLO)

black leather

babe's gonna get to you

stormy weather

you know heaven's rain is due

you better run

before it all starts to fall on you

you better run

(GUITAR SOLO)
