

Raul Midon, Suddenly

Suddenly, I see the things I used to see so differently.
I feel as if Ive found a new reality.
Suddenly, the noise outside my window is a symphony.
A symphony of endless possibility, right in front of me.
Winters cold,
Cold enough to chill you
Through and through.
And I dont know,
Why the people passing by, they just dont seem to care.
Suddenly, I understand the meaning of eternity.
Im reaching out my hand to touch you, now I see
Suddenly