

Ray Price, Hang Your Head In Shame

Oh don't your conscience ever bother you everytime you hear my name
Try to think of all that I've gone through and hang your head in shame
Someone came along and took my place then you gave me all the blame
You should go somewhere and hide your face and hang your head in shame
[fiddle - steel]

When you said I was the only one twas just your little game
Try to think of all the harm you've done and hang your head in shame
I should hate you but I love you still in my heart I've kept the flame
You'll be sorry darling yes you will and hang your head in shame
