

Ray Price, I Don't Know Why I Keep Loving You

I know the sun will rise tomorrow morning
And when the sun comes up I'll still be blue
I know the storm can come without a warning
But I don't know why I keep loving you
I keep waiting for the change that I waited for so long
The change that will mean you love me too
But I know from the past there'll be no changing
And I don't know why I keep loving you
[steel - fiddle - steel]
I know that you can't help the things you're doing
You don't mean to hurt me but you do
I know if this keeps up you'll be my ruin
And I don't know why I keep loving you
I keep waiting for the change...