

Ray Price, My Confession

Sweetheart I'm all alone tonight thinking about my wasted past
I see that you were always right and now I'm at your feet at last Take my heart and let it live this is all I have to give
So please believe me when I say for all the wrongs I've done I'll pay

Sweetheart you know I love you so why did I ever let you go
In dreams you're all that I can see so won't you reconsider me
My confession to you dear makes me shed a silent tear
My heart would be so light sweetheart if you would say we'll never part
