

Ray Price, Whose Heart Are You Breaking Now

I was the one that you fooled yesterday whose heart are you breaking now
You took a romance and threw it away whose heart are you breaking now
What has become of the the love I once knew what have you done with each vow
Somebody else now is game for a day whose heart are you breaking now [ steel - fiddle ]
I was the one that you left all alone whose heart are you breaking now
You were the one with a heart made of stone whose heart are you breaking now
I used to think you would always be me everything's different somehow
You're smiling now but some day you will pay whose heart are you breaking now