

Reach The Sky, This Sadness Alone

and she asked me "where have you been?
i could've sworn i lost you again."
my reply
"why do you still pretend
that you forgot me?"

when my world began to fall,
i had to turn and run.
when my world began to fall,
my cries echoed on and on.

melancholy caught in my throat,
sadness alone would never change me.
but maybe someday,
yeah maybe some day
soon, you won't have to find me.

when my world began to fall,
i had to turn and run.
when my world began to fall,
my cries echoed on and on.