

Rearview Mirror, Blade

Right now you're missing the point, and I'm screaming in your ear
but you don't acknowledge me standing here by myself.
Nothing is holding me up, talking me through this game.
I'm in no mood to fight but you leave me no option and the first chance I get I take to prove you wrong one more time.
Because I'll take away all I gave you and then I'll laugh in your face? I don't want to fear you anymore.
I don't feel that intimidated by you.
I don't want to fear you anymore,
and so I walk away and try to forget.
So I walk, walk, walk away? Integrity's hard to find.
It was something not in you so I gave up and tried to move on.
It's no wonder you lost.
But you're empty, you're broken and you begin to turn it on me? I don't want to fear you anymore.
I don't feel that intimidated by you.
I don't want to fear you anymore, and so I walk away.
So I walk away? Oh denied, oh denied, it's been wiped away.
It's no wonder you lost.
You're so empty and so broken you'll never get this.
Right now, right now, it's so hard to find the right blade.
Right now, right now, it's so hard to find the right blade.