

Reba McEntire, Bad For My Own Good

I thought I had my life under control
I was the one in charge of my heart and soul
Now I must focus in I'm losin more sleep than I should I want you too bad for my own good yeah

My intuition tells me I'm in to deep
This time this heart of mine is playing for keeps I've fallen harder than I ever imagined I would I want you to bad for my own good

chorus

If anyone had told me
i'd be feelin like this
I would have laughed in their face
Now I'm addicted to the thrill of you kiss
And it's a habit that I can't break
My independence is a thing of the past
My better judgment is fading fast
But i wouldn't give you up
Not even if I thought I could
I want you too bad for my own good
I want you to bad for my own good
For my own good
Oh, for my own good
yeah
For my own good
