

Rebecca Martin, I'd Like to Think It's Coming

(R. Martin)

If your love is meant for me
What are the questions for?
When love has come to me before
What makes yours unique?

I'd jump through this open door
If I had your word
When everything comes crashing down
My voice could still be heard.

Is that too much of me to ask of you?
Are you just another passing through?
To be loved as much as I can love
I'd like to think it's coming.
