

Red House Painters, Another Song For A Blue G

she comes apart at the seams cause she never dreams as she lays up awake cause her feelings ache and the one thing she found as she gazed at the sea
was that she lost her faith
her faith in me

and in the early morning i can't make up a thing and a barely can play i don't like to sing
so i picked up my brush painted blue guitar and i ripped off the chords from 'bron y' aur'

so i played her a song but the timing was wrong poor choices of chords and the words were forced and the one thing that i found as i gazed at the sea was that she lost all hope all hope in me

as she gazed at the sea
was that she lost her faith
her faith in me