

Redcore, The Game

Knowing it seems so crazy
These things that come upon me Imposed, exposed to those who moan but hold the key to salvation

Those friends that we should call friends Are those who keep in their heads Their hate, their fate that state we are all one no matter who says

Come play this game that we play
The seasons will change in this game today