

Redd Kross, Where I Am Today

I feel happy - that's where I am today
But when I get sad - I just want to go away
Well I get myself down - I go so low down
It hurts to feel that pain
And it won't happen - cuz I just won't look that way
But if it starts to catch my eye
If I turn and wonder why these things just seem to be
And why these things just have to be

And I won't look that way today
And I won't see those things today

I used to think that - everyone was the same
Walking around all the time - thinking all the same things
But I know it's not true, just look at you
I can tell you not that way
But I won't worry - like I said, I feel okay
But if I don't feel the same
If I start to go insane - I close my eyes and see
Only things I want to see

And I won't look that way today
I don't know why I feel this way
Just a feeling I have and I don't understand
It's just so hard to say

And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today

If I start to go insane - please close my eyes for me
Show me things I want to see
And I won't look that way today
And I won't see those things today
Just a feeling I have and I don't understand
It's just so hard to say

And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today
And this is where I am today

Just a feeling I have and I don't understand
It's just so hard to say -
'Cuz this is where -
This is where I am
Yeah yeah
And this is where, this is where I am today
