

Refused, I Am Not Me

I will choose my diet with care and like that wasn't enough I already wrote a good bye note to say farewell to you your TV-world - your fake idyll - your selfish ways - compromising truth nothing has to come to an end so glad I never followed you - impossible to progress I burn your flag to possess the strength and knowledge that you repress I choose my diet with comfort and like that wasn't enough I wrote you a thank you note for what you tried to make of me a pre-packaged blueprint - a cut to fit product thank you for absolutely nothing we are just blueprints - we are just products individuality lost to conformity - I am not me
we are just blueprints - we are just products individuality now means anonymity - we are not free
