

Regurgitator, I Like Your Old Remix Better Than

i've got your photograph fifty times on my wall i've got your autographed underpants in my drawer i'm always singing to your cd on my stereo you see me smiling back i'm always in the front row the day has come and my heart's in a rollercoaster a hot new album and it's got a free promo poster i'm freaking out and i just can't hide it i've lost my brain and i'm so excited i rush home to listen to your new sounds i put it on and shit is all that i heard you're nothing like you were before now i can't believe that you went and changed

oh no
i like your old stuff better than your new stuff (x4)

i thought they understood now i feel so alone straight away and i'm talking on the telephone i call my friends but i don't know what to say regurgitator's new record sounds so passe it's like a cross between cold chisel and the prodigy they're fked now and they're sure not what they used to be you've lost a fan and i hope you lose more so be prepared for a great big fall it's gonna take no time at all for me oh to get your songs up and out of my head the music sucks and the words mean nothing at all so quit this band and never come back again never come back again

i like your old stuff better than your new stuff (x16)