

Relient K, Maintain Consciousness

Our concentration it contains a deadly flaw our conversations change from words to blah, blah blah we took prescription drugs but look how much good that did well I think I had a point, but I just got distracted Lately it just seems to me like we've got the letters A.D.D. branded into our mentality we simply can't focus on anything because its 17, 18, 19 routine and here at 23 it's the same old me and that one thing of the moment that we all happen to like will only very temporarily kinda break the cycle of the double edged sword of being lazy and being bored we just want more and more and more till it's all we can afford to keep our eyes open for just one more day to keep on hoping that we'll stumble on a way to keep our minds open for just one more day cause its completely up to us to maintain consciousness well no one can possibly listen to this more than 4 reps is just monotonous we're losing interest, losing interest, losing interest