

Remedy, You've Been Told

(Anderson/Meyer)

I've been a battler all my life
Every step I take I earn
I done wrong and I've done right
But I'm always willing to learn

Cool chics, good smoke, bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told
'Cause I like pretty young girls, good smoking drugs
Bourbon that's eight years old

I was wild when I was a kid
My flame was burning bright
I was in love with being alive
I was a lover in the night

Cool chics, good smoke, bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told
'Cause I like pretty young girls, good smoking drugs
Bourbon that's eight years old

You cannot say you ain't been told

Cool chics, good smoke, bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told

Well I'm a lover not a fighter
I want the softer things in life
Good cigars 'n' good whiskey
They never bring me strife

Cool chics, good smoke, bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told
Well I like pretty young girls, good smoking drugs
Bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told
I like pretty young girls, good smoking drugs
Bourbon that's eight years old
You cannot say you ain't been told
You cannot say you ain't been told
