

Remembering Never, Alisons Song

I'd love to drown you in a sea of your own blood kisses to me and watch you choke on it how many songs do you wish to be written about you? this isn't the first and it wont be the last baby how well you fake a smile and some tears to match you wanted everything and more everything is ruined when i have you again your're mouth gets sewn up forever i'll never let you go Mrs. hardcore fashion show kiss your drama queen days good-bye those days are so long gone and this day so are you this is the last night your neck is not serrated this charade is getting older than suicide attempts say you love me say you love me and write it in your blood and you know what say it again
se how fast your chest collapses we are all the lucky ones and i'll decorate myself with your insides and i can wear your face as a mask dont cry
you just got what you wanted how cool you look now how much better would you look with your heart lodged inside the brand new cut in your throat your body is as blue as your hair
