

Renee Cassar, Waiting

You're so scared to show emotion
That I think you're bleeding from within
And I've tried to reach inside you
And break the walls so we can begin
I've walked to hell with you I've done it all to please you baby
And we've come so far that now I really need you to Let it out Let it out Let me in
Let it go don't you know that I'm waiting
For you
I'm wanting to belong here
I'm trying to hold on and understand
That you've been through so much
That it's hard to trust someone again
My dreams are always with you
My hopes they lie within you baby
But I've tried so hard that now I really need you to
Let it out Let it out Let me in
Let it go don't you know that I'm waiting
For you
I want to see you let me see you let me in, let me in
I want to know you, the worst about you I want to see everything
Everything everything
