

Reset, Double Cross

When we first met you held my hand
And I'll never understand
Why you changed so drastically
Did you really think I would
Let myself get stepped on by someone as low as you
Now it's time for you to pay for your lies
Some day you might understand
Sometimes it's easier to deny
Than see your own lies, look at yourself
You will not forget me when I'm gone
Things have changed yet it's still same
Only the memories remain
And you can't push them away
Don't you feel ashamed
I guess you never thought it would end up in such a mess
Now it's time for you to pay for your lies
I never felt so fucking cheated
Cause your leaving with a part of me
I'll never find again
My confidence in people
And that wonderful feeling of being safe
When I'm alone
Did you really think I would
Let myself get stepped on by someone as low as you
You'll pay for your lies
I'm coming back again
You had better start shaking some hands
Cause you'll be living on command
I'd like to see you some day walking in my shoes
And see if you could last
Don't cry about the past