

Reveille, Catarax

you'd better back up off this sucker punch consequence, consequence-fuck it, no more waiting for the world to turn bloody as my smile dripping ear to ear i haven't lived for a moment and think it's too damn late to learn so just flush it down lie down- forever never had a dream asymmetric reflection of my soul to sell now disinfect yourself, i'll just pretend to scream got a low self-esteem from all these guileful lies carry me there- i can't stand to stand on my own but i'd rather be hated than forgotten cuz it's a long way down and it's a long way home cataract scratch- we don't play like that i got a bone to pick n' i'm a pick that bone cataract scratch- we don't play like that because we can't stand to stand on our own they always said to keep my head on my shoulders, both feet on the ground been living more like one foot in the grave tell myself everything i need to hear time to face the music because it's all based on what you crave fiction addiction outer darkness is calling, it's your goodnight kiss 666 ways to fall catarax will blind but can you hear this?

for every sin there's a time to burn it's near too late so don't press your luck now focus- do you really know what i mean, and do you really think you'll be forgivencuz i think i'm fucked when it rains it pours, we tug of war within we talk of endlessness we cry to purge our sins atoned to rebegin, eliminate the scars fuck the sky or merely count the stars with every shade of night descending into me i'm in the dark for life but now at least i'm free-from my own apathy and from my own decay i'm unremissible now but i got my way so now can you see me inside of you? guide me throughbecause tomorrow will fuck you too break through