

Revolution Renaissance, Keep The Flame Alive

I have walked this lonely road
A thousand Years, it's filled with bitter tears
I have swum across the sea
Just to find I have no home
I have been everywhere
I have seen what I should not have seen
Still I'm here on this same road
Trying to find where is my home
In my heart in my soul
Weariness tears apart
Still I walk on this road but you, my friends... keep the flame alive