

Rez Band, Alienated

I like you name, I like your face,
Are you a charter member of the human race?
Are you ever frustrated by the things you see?
Does it make you sad or upset, like me?

Alienated from this world; talked about but politely neglected,
You're alienated from this world, and I'm beginning to understand.

With love in your eyes, you confront the lies, the double standards, and the party ties,
My one affiliation is with your name; to share your kingdom and to share your shame.

Lord, you are alienated from this world; talked about but politely neglected,
You're alienated from this world, and I'm beginning to understand,
Alienated from this world; talked about but politely neglected,
You're alienated from this world, and I'm beginning to understand.

I have chosen the narrow road,
Lord, you gave me such an easy load,
I look at your cross, and I see your love.

Lord, you're alienated from this world; talked about but politely neglected,
You're alienated from this world, and I'm beginning to understand,
Alienated from this world; talked about but politely neglected,
You're alienated from this world, and I'm beginning to understand.
