

Rez Band, Midnight Son

My eyes are in the sky, my head is turned around,
People pass me by, looking for what I've found,
But to see what I see you got to know who I know,
And to be where I am you got to follow.

The roaring of the sea, the pounding of the wave,
The water calling me; my old life to the grave.

And I went under as it came over,
The holy water spoke to me,
And I went under as it came over,
The holy water spoke to me.

You light up the sky,
You're the power of the sun,
You're the starlight in the darkness,
On your laughter, shadows run,
You're a mighty wind of glory and the Father all in one,
You're the morning star,
You're the midnight son.

The sun burned through the shadows,
And Mary saw the light in the eyes of the risen saviour, as the day shut out the night,
But to see what I see you got to know who I know,
And to be where I am you got to learn to follow,
But to know who I know you got to learn to follow,
Learn to follow.
