

Rez Band, Skyline

I've seen the skyline of this tired town,
We look well worn now, we've all been around,
The world is crazy, it's all gone wild.

I'm seeing the starvation of this population,
Their faces speak of no place to go,
I'm seeing the starvation of this population,
Their faces speak of no one to know.

Lost in the alleys, playing the games,
Disguise your feelings, yeah - you'll go insane.

Listen, truth is the season,
Love is the reason,
Faith is the flame we must hold,
Doubt - the deceiver,
Hope - the believer that comes in from the cold,
Yeah, yeah.

I've seen the skyline of another time,
The city's holy, the water's wine.

Oh, but the wheel of time, it keeps on spinning,
Still, all the losers think they're winning, but Jesus died to be forgiving.

Doubt - the deceiver,
Hope - the believer...believer that comes in from the cold.