

Rhesus, The Actress

I'm sailing the blue ocean and I don't feel quite right I'm kissing your lips in a long corridor People come to visit but they won't let me leave I'm struck in this place and feeling left out The navy uniforms and the planes' sounds
The tricky situation, your tongue
The colours and shapes in the background
The colours and shapes
and then I'm waking up

A lotta words, a lotta time
A lotta things you can never know You never go, you never come down Still you never know
You don't understand

You look so gorgeous dancing in your white dress We hardly talk and hide in a closet
The mime is in love with the actress
We hardly talk and you are beautiful The crowd is out waiting for some action You're smiling now knowing that I can't see The colours and shapes
in the background
The colours and shapes
and then I'm waking up
