

Rhett Akins, Highway Sunrise

(Kenneth Lamb/Jeffrey Stevens)

There's somethin' pullin' on me
Out of nowhere like a mystery
An I won't find it here in my backyard
So I'm gonna go an I don't care how far
Drivin' through the night wherever it goes

By the mornin' light I'll be down that road
Where a heart can see and the headlights know
Where the night ends an the dawn begins to glow
It's a healin' time it's a moment of truth
When all your fears come crashin' through to the other side
Where you play your mind and let go
'Cause nothin' can dry your eyes
Like a highway sunrise

Wheels turnin' in my mind
Tail-lights dancin' in my eyes
An there's no horizon just a fade to black
An I'll be breakin' through with my foot on the gas
Somewhere I've never been is leadin' me on

By the mornin' light I'll be down that road
Where a heart can see and the headlights know
Where the night ends and the dawn begins to glow
It's healin' time it's a moment of truth
When all your fears come crashin' through to the other side
Where you play your mind and let go
'Cause nothin' can dry your eyes
Like a highway sunrise

Somewhere I've never been is leadin' me on

By the mornin' light I'll be down that road
Where a heart can see and the headlights know
Where the night ends and the dawn begins to glow
It's a healin' time it's a moment of truth
When all your fears come crashin' through to the other side
Where you play your mind and let go
'Cause nothin' can dry your eyes
Like a highway sunrise

Like a highway sunrise
Chase down a highway sunrise
