

Rich Mullins, Heart Set Free

"Rising sun
I can feel your warmth again
The sun has come full circle in her endless spin
And I can hear the morning voices
The dawn is born, the day rejoices
And I can hear them singing, singing
I will join the celebration
I will dance to the music of a heart set free

Risen One
Raise the dead and give them life
For far too long have shadows rested on their bodies
But death dies in the glow of your laughter
Love's a light in your eternity
And I can hear you calling, calling
Sound Your cry and I will answer
I will rise to the music of a heart set free

And I can feel the heat of golden rays
Burned in me the music's song - the ancient, endless praise
Death and doubts quickly disappear when you're near

When you're near me in the rising sun
Riding on the shoulders of
The Risen One
And in the dawn of His great love
The music called the universe is deep inside my soul
It's bursting me
And I can feel it growing, growing
In the power of Your resurrection
I will rise in the music of a heart set free"