

Rich Mullins, These Days

"There's a song down in my heart
Nobody there to sing it
Like a vision asleep in the dark
With no one around to dream it
We just all sit back and watch all
That we love sinking away

When we got to where we was going
We forgot just where it was
The next thing that you know is
All we found was we was lost
And the blame oh the blame
Comes down on all of us these days

These days we got nothing left to find
These days oh it's the blind leading the blind
These days I need more than just a line about Jesus
Oh I need to see His love these days

We got sophistication
In the wake of the fall
Now we got this Civilization
And it's got us all involved in nothing
Oh nothing at all but atomic waste

And we got too many people
Who are too easily disposed of Well you can make it all legal
But in the end you know that it ain't right
You were just doing your job
And your job did you in these days

These days oh it's the blind leading the blind
These days I need more than just a line about Jesus
Oh I need to see His love these days

These days I need more than just a line about Jesus
Oh I need to see His love these days"
