

Richard John Thompson, Another One In Your File

There's a shadow lying next to you
There's so many things I wanna let you hear
I couldn't say them though I wanted to
Just the little things could bring you down in tears
It's not you, it's everything that's wrong with me

If you wanna cry well that's alright
Well I just wish that I could make you smile
If you want well I could hold you one last time
Well I'm just gonna be another one in your file
It's not you, it's everything that's wrong with me

Well it's almost over now
The end is clearly set in stone
And there's a dart flying into my picture on your wall
Let me see that smile
You know I'm gonna be just another one in your file

You know I never used my fists against you
And there's a lot of words you're sad I never used
I know I've left you in a screwed up situation
I'll give you money or a place to stay you choose
It's not you, it's everything that's wrong with me

Well it's almost over now
The end is clearly set in stone
And there's a dart flying into my picture on your wall
Let me see that smile
You know I'm gonna be just another one in your file

I really hope that you don't hold a grudge
I really hope that you don't hold a grudge
I really hope that you don't hold a grudge
I really hope that you don't hold a grudge
