

Richard Marx, Edge of forever

No one can decide when lightening will strike
And everything falls into place
And lately it seems whe