

Richard Thompson, Down where the drunkards roll

See the boys out walking The boys, they look so fine Dressed up in green velvet Their silver buckles