

Richard Thompson, Fotheringay

How often she has gazed from castle windows all And watched the daylight passing within her cap