

Richard Thompson, Keep your distance

If I cross your path again, who knows where, who knows when On some morning without number,