

Richie Aufrichtig, Nowhere Far

Sitting in the park I felt the wind blow through my hair
Then I walked right down to see the water
Saw it crash upon the shores of my old town
Then I saw it crash upon another
But I know that's how it goes

Though I tried to capture it all on my camera
The moment came too soon
I'm just sitting here alone with my guitar
Going nowhere, nowhere far

Sitting in the park I felt the rain fall on my eyes
Feeling all that rain that fell from Canada
See, I never really found a way to sympathize
With those who fell in love with all the rain falling from the skies

And though I tried to find a way out of the stereo
I could never find my way out of Ontario
I'm just sitting here playing my guitar
Going nowhere, nowhere far

Sitting here my mind began to think of all those eyes
All those eyes that looked inside my camera
Thinking about them made my mind begin to sympathize
Because I fell in love with all the sun inside their eyes

And the love I felt was something like an anagram
Because the words expressed the feeling that my mind just can't Just sitting here alone with my guitar
Going nowhere, nowhere far
