

Richie Aufrichtig, Windfall

There's no word worth writing
No song that's out there hiding
No one to take you home
You're all alone

There's no song worth hearing
There is no future nearing
When you got no one to hold
You're all alone

And I'm not gonna believe
You feel what you were on your sleeve
The half you found to make you a whole
Left you all alone

'Cause when the cold outside begins its biting
I know there's no point in fighting
It's all gone
For you

The way the warmth fills all the holes inside you
I won't even try to find you
You are gone
For me

There's no point in hating
The whole world is waiting
For you to choose who you are taking home
And I know I'm going alone (?)

I thought I would miss you when you're gone
It's funny how I'm often proven wrong
I waited for the longest time
But you're not coming home
I waited
And now I'm alone

I thought the way you sang was nice
Beauty I would never take home
I lied in the dark
Yeah, the sparklers made sparks
That burn out when they hit the ground
All that's left is a memory of a beauty that can not be found
I waited
I waited
For you

And I know that I never waited for calls to ever come through
For you
Yeah I know that I never waited for calls toe ever come through
For you

Come on!