

Richie Kotzen, A Love Divine

Some say love is emotion
I say love is a temple of life
I feel I am a fortunate one
And I don't want nobody judging this man...

I know they all have their theories
On how a man and a woman should be
But if there's one thing somebody should know
It don't matter how you're livin' your life
I don't want nobody judging mine

Free your mind
I know what you want in your life
He who says love is blind
May never witness a love divine

They say that time's of the essence
And I've watched the sand sift through my fingers
But I managed to save some of those years
Now that I found meaning in life
Now that I have found a love divine

Free your mind
I know what you want in your life
He who says love is blind
May never witness a love divine